GEORGETOWN PLAYS FORDHAM IN OPENING GAME TOMORROW

Contest Between Two Big Catholic Institutions Should Be Hard Fought—M. A. C. to Meet Baltimore Polys. Other Contests.

BY H. C. BYRD.

Georgetown and Fordham meet tomorrow in the first big game of the local football season. The New York eleven will come here this evening with the strongest combination that has represented it since 1909, according to reports, while Georgetown can place against it the heaviest and most experienced team that has worn its colors this early in the season for a long while. A victory is looked for by the followers of both institutions.

It is very seldom that a big game is to be seen here so early in the year. The contest will be a treat in this respect, as it has been almost unheard of previously for the Blue and Gray to meet an opponent of the caliber of Fordham on its opening date; and, especially in this time of year, the bitter rivalry that has always existed between the New Yorkers and the Blue and Gray.

Fordham will undoubtedly bring down the strongest eleven it has had in five years. Back in 1909 the New York school was represented by an eleven that defeated Cornell and played Princeton to a 0 to 3 score, and it was this team which Georgetown battled on its last appearance against the Gothamites; the score of that game was 0 to 0, each eleven getting within the 10-yard line of the other ones, but failing to come anywhere near scoring at any other time.

Just what the result of the contest will be is impossible to foretell. Were it not for the fact that the Georgetown men are untried—that is, the majority of them—it would be best to predict a victory for the Blue and Gray by a small margin. The one drawback at Georgetown, or rather the factor that causes favorable prediction as to the outcome not to be made, is that it is hard to tell how the Blue and Gray are going to stand up under fire. Some of the mainstays of the team will be taking part in their first college game, and how well they are going to accomplish the plays and execute the various things taught them by Eschmider is hard to say if he measures up to expectations, though, Georgetown is mighty apt to finish with a victory to its credit.

As a matter of fact, neither side is likely to have much of a margin. Both teams are in the early stages of their development and cannot possibly have a sufficient offensive repertoire to run up many points. The defense will likely be much more fully polished than the offense.

Fordham, if reports are true, has a very capable combination. Dutch formerly of Yale, is said to be almost a team in himself, though the great weight of Georgetown's line should at most preclude possibility of consistent gains by line plunging, the one style of play in which Dutch is said to be exceptionally proficient.

No matter which team wins, the game is certain to be a 50 per cent better exhibition of football than has been shown in this section in a long while in early season contests. Play will start at 3 o'clock, and the odds are to be Maxwell, the old Swarthmore guard; Brennick of Harvard, and Berne of Princeton. Brennick has been omitted here before, but Maxwell and Bergen have had charge of games and have given satisfaction. Georgetown's team will line up in this way: Gensler and Pautz, ends; and Ward, tackle; Conwell and Barron, guards; McKenna, center; Landreau and Murray, halfbacks; Fitzgerald, fullback, and Foley, quarterback. This will give the Hilltoppers an eleven, the five center men of which average more than 200 pounds, with a back field and a line of players that range between 160 and 170. It is the heaviest combination the Blue and Gray has placed on a football field in many years.

Another contest will take place tomorrow, the Maryland Aggies being scheduled to play the Baltimore Poly.

FRENCH TAKES CHIEF CUP IN SENIORS' GOLF TOURNEY

Twelve Turn in Net Scores of 82 in Kickers' Handicap—Gen. Weaver, Chevy Chase. Ties for Gross Score Prize.

RYE, N. Y., September 25.—There were prizes for almost as many ties as there were prizes when the last senior golf tournament at the Rye Country Club was handed in last night, ending the tenth annual senior tournament at the Apawamis Club. H. E. French of Brooklawn was the shining light in the ranks of the veterans, for he figured in the winning list for a trio of prizes. His score of 167—24, 141, was the best net total for the two days of play; he tied at 167 with two others for the best thirty-six-hole gross score, and was one of five golfers who tied at 82 for the trophy for the maker of the best eighteen-hole found on either day of the tourney.

After a short period of deliberation Mr. French decided to play safe, and so took the prize for the best thirty-six-hole gross score, for which he had no opponent. As the rules governing the tourney forbid the winning of more than one trophy by a player, he surrendered all his right, title and interest in the other two prizes. F. A. Wright, Baltusrol, with 85, 82—167, and C. A. Spofford, Garden City, with 82, 85—167, remained in the tie for the thirty-hole gross score, and will play off the tie whenever they get ready, a rule which will govern the playing off of most of the other deadlocks.

Tie Gross Score.

After Mr. French had withdrawn from the struggle for the best eighteen-hole gross score prize, there remained Gen. E. M. Weaver, Chevy Chase; Darwin P. Kingsley, Sleepy Hollow; F. A. Wright, Baltusrol, and C. A. Spofford, Garden City. Every man but Spofford made his 82 yesterday, Spofford making his in Wednesday's round.

Both of the eighteen-hole net prizes, for the first day and the other for the second, were won outright. Justice Mahlon Pitney of the United States Supreme Court won the first-day prize with his 85—70, and the winner for the second day was Fred Gerken, Oakland, whose score was 84—88.

Score of the lowest gross score made yesterday was to be the winner. As it turned out there were fifteen net scores of 82. Those who tied were Winthrop Sargeant, Merion; C. F. Quinry, Greenwich; J. H. Killinger, Wykagyl; E. D. Eddy, Apawamis; E. M. Hootchikiss, Baltusrol; E. Z. Truett, Fox Hills; G. S. Barnum, New Haven; Robert Collier, Danwood; S. L. Allen, technic Institute at College Park in the morning. The Farmers were originally booked to have Baltimore City College as their opponents, but that school asked to have its game canceled. The Farmers are really not in shape to play, as yesterday was the first time that even a tentative eleven has been lined up for signal practice. It is very probable that the first scrimmage will be had in the game, and with the green material and lack of knowledge of plays it is not expected that a very good showing will be made. The Aggies will be content to win by a small score, although there is the possibility they will not do that well.

An article in one of the morning papers states that Ruff, one of the backs at M. A. C. last year, is practically sure of his place again this fall, and already has his position "ditched." This would be very interesting if Ruff were in college, but he has not even returned, and will not be back at all.

Despite the fact that the squad had been out only one day, a scrimmage was held at Gallatin yesterday. The men did some good work. Davies and Laidlaw appear to be the best of the new players, both having shown good form. Hard work will begin right away. The Kendall Greeners are to meet Fordham in New York next week, and they must rush their plant rapidly in order to be in good shape for the contest, which is likely to be grueling.

Joyce, a former Bates College half-back, reported for practice at Georgetown yesterday. Joyce is expected to be of much worth to the Hilltoppers, in view of the scarcity of real capable material for positions behind the line, outside of the first string men.

Cornell is the only one of the big colleges that is scheduled to meet a team which may prove a victor over it. The Ithacans are to play the University of Pittsburgh eleven, which won last year by a big margin. It is well realized by the "Big Red" that it is not going to have things easy and will have to extend its efforts to the utmost if it is to finish with the long end of the stick. The Cornellians are sure to be very formidable. It has only to be recalled that the Pennsylvanians won from Cornell and Carleton last fall to bring to mind the fact that the aggregation under Al Sharpe is not going to have things very easy, and certainly has some desperate work cut out for it if victory is to be gained.

The other big teams ought to take out easy victories, with the possible exception of Carleton. Bates College is unlikely to be more than good practice for Harvard, and the University of Pennsylvania is sure to be able to accomplish anything more than a fair showing against Pennsylvania; Rutgers may give Princeton a stiff battle, but is not likely to win. Yale is pretty sure to take the game from the University of Maine by a comfortable margin. The Carleton Indians are to play the West Virginia Wesleyan eleven, which, judging by the rather poor showing of the Carleton team against Lebanon Valley Wednesday, may prove a big stumbling block. Carleton's tough time in winning from Lebanon may not, and probably is not, conclusive evidence of weakness on the part of the Indians this season, but it is sufficient to show that it is possible for a small team to give them a hard battle. It is certain that Carleton will be a whole lot better off than against the West Virginia institution if it is to win.

Besides the Georgetown game several other schools in this section are to have a back field and a line of players that range between 160 and 170. It is the heaviest combination the Blue and Gray has placed on a football field in many years.

MAKES CLEAN SWEEP.

Southern Railway Team Wins Well in Commercial League.

The Southern Railway team rolled for the Eastern Prizemen's Merchants' Transfer five in the Commercial League last night, winning all three games. All the contests were taken by big margins.

The Navy Yard team came within two pins of making it three straight from the Eastern Prizemen in the North-East, the last game being lost by that margin. The two matches in the Southwestern League resulted in victories for the Linworths and Mounts, both winners taking all their games. The score:

Figuring Out Classes.
The three class classes were the last to be figured out. In class A, for golfers from sixty to sixty-five years of age, Martin Carey, Oakland, won the trophy for the maker of the best eighteen-hole found on either day of the tourney.

Horace L. Hotchkiss, founder of the seniors' tournament, proved to be the winner in class C, which included every golfer of seventy-three or over. Mr. Hotchkiss finished with the creditable card of 191, 35—156. Incidentally Mr. Hotchkiss did not win two prizes, although in so doing he did not violate the one prize rule, as one of his trophies was a special one. The Boston veterans who play each year at Apawamis have provided a punch bowl, the custody of which is given to the member of the Apawamis Club making the lowest net score of the second day of the tourney. Mr. Hotchkiss turned in a score of 94, 18—76 yesterday and won the Boston cup.
